our undertaking.

This morning, if not of a highly exciting character, is exceedingly interesting. The great point of interest has now shifted from Charleston back to the Army of the Cumberland, below Chattanooga. Our dispatches inform us that both the rebel and our armies are concentrated and within striking distance of each other. The Confederate authorities have been making every exertion to stay the onward march of Gen. Resecrans. They have concentrated every available man west of the mountains and east of the Mississippi, besides drawing large reenforcements from Gen. Lee. The report that they now outnumber the Army of the Cumberland is not improbable; but in all the elements of success-in discipline, equipment, and enthusiasm growing out of a consciousness of a righteous cause, as well as the inspiration from repeated victories-our army is altogether the superior of that of the rebels. In addition to their numbers, however, the rebels have a strong position, and are operating close to their base of supplies, while General Rosecrans is mr from hits To offset this advantage, it is comforting to know that General Burnside, with his veteran army, is within supporting distance, and will be prepared to render such assistance as may be necessary to insure the rout of the last rebel army in

The road between here and Brownsville runs through a prairie, and is a splendid road for an Army. No dust, water being the chief difficulty. However, none of us have suffered as yet. Having been constantly on duty with the Company, I have not been able to hear much that would be of importance. The condition of our regiment is better, so far as sickness is concerned, than any egiment in the expedition. There is one thousand sick at this place from the different commands. Col. that he is yet single, and as devoted an admirer of the fair sex as he is a gallant defender of his country. Hoping the next time I write to be able to send more interesting news, I Yours Respectfully,

New York, September 18.—The Paris correspondent of the New York Times under date of September 4th says, a most important change has taken place in European affairs. The Emperor Napoleon has turned a summersault, and now lies in the dust at the feet of Prince Gortzehakoff. His position of European dictator is at an end, and hereafter be will have enough to do to take care of himself. NO MAN'S NAME IS MORE INTIMATELY Connected with the bistory of the Materia that of Dr. JOHN BULL, of Louis ille, Ky. His inimitable preparation of Saus-parilla has long stood at the h ad of the various compounds of that valuable drug. His Conference Part ball or Willo the West and South; and his Worn Lozenges, in less than a year after their introduction, attained a reputation as wide-spread as the continent of North America. But the erowning glory of his life remains to be attained in his latest discovery, or rather combination; for he does not claim to have been the discoverer of Cl-DRON which is the

That honor belongs to the native inhabitants of Central America, to whom its virtues have been known for more than two hundred years. Armed with it, the Indian bids defiance to the most deadly malaria, and handles without fear the most while there is breath left in the b dy, the Oedron is potent to cure, no matter what the disease may

While Dr. Bull is not prepared to indorse this While Dr. Bull is not prepared to indorse this extravagant pretension, he is nevertheless satisfied from a thorough examination of the evidence relative to its virtues, that as a remedy and preventative for all diseases arising from exposure, either to changes of weather and climate, or to the minsmatic influences, it stands without a rival and justly deserves the reputation it hosse long enjoyed in Central America and the West Indies.
